Alstroemeria

beautiful by nature, strong by breeding

Our sustainable Alstroemeria assortment reflects decades of breeding expertise. By combining strong performance, excellent vase life and a responsible approach to cultivation, we help create bouquets that deliver lasting value throughout the supply chain.

Vibrant, robust and bred with sustainability in mind, our Alstroemeria's reflect our commitment to quality and responsible cultivation. Alstroemeria requires relatively little energy and fewer crop protection products, with up to 90% biological control. We continuously invest in breeding virus-resistant varieties to further reduce the environmental impact of production.

Whether you're looking for dependable bouquet ingredients or a tailor-made Alstroemeria assortment, our team is happy to help. Contact us to discover the possibilities.
